Once upon a time I danced unwittingly among the elites.

True Hackers // People with issues // Kind and compassionate // I called them friends.

CEREAL KILLER aka [a good friend of mine] — there's much more than meets the eye here

Rest

Back in the 80s it was the wild frontier.

The wild frontier was taken over by corporations - spreading ugliness across the once pristine wasteland known as the grid.

SLIMESKULLOFSNOT

〚no self-respecting piece on Hacking would be complete without the obligatory skull〛

But what of 〚skull〛 as in neuroskull perhaps?

Here's the expose' you're looking for. Hackers//Hacking is 1% knowledge 99% BS.

You have to be willing to lie & steal if you want to Hack but really, it's not Hacking but instead is Cracking.

You may be surprised to learn that what the world considers to be the elite Hackers of society [super smart, computer experts with godlike abilities] - Are in reality
nothing more than script kiddies behaving
as common thieves.

That's it. Everything on this page is true.
From a certain point of view.
Everything on this page appears exactly as it is intended to look.

- A true Hacker will see a program and want it to do more than its original purpose. So they make changes to the code in order to better suit their desires aka they Hack the program.

- A Cracker will steal a password and illegally enter into an account or website; sometimes just for kicks, other times to cause havoc.
  Often using pre-written programs [aka scripts]
  to insert while they are there.

I miss the golden age of cyberspace - SWARTHOS

This begins with the obligatory skull so you know this must be good...

- In notepad type the following and save as matrix.bat onto your desktop.
  Click on it & enjoy the show. [harmless editable/fun program for you]

@echo off
title Matrix
color 0a
mode 1000
goto Greeting

:Greeting
cls
echo Hello SWARTH0S.
pause
cls
goto Matrix

:Matrix
