

TOKYO X CYBERPUNK X

I've sat and watched "Lost In Translation" a dozen times, maybe more. I don't think I can give a clear definitive reason for doing so but I will try. It could be that I enjoy looking at Scarlett Johansson, I could say that and nobody would argue with me. Or I could say that I like the May/December interaction between Bill Murray and her. That too would be acceptable.

While both of those examples are included in my reason for watching it so many times, I believe it has more to do with the aesthetics of Tokyo and it being a place I've always wanted to visit but probably never will. So currently I can only travel there via my window to a past world.

